

eVAL Roles

A reference for districts onboarding to eVAL

Your role in eVAL determines what you can see and do. Some users have a single role; others have multiple roles across different locations. Use this overview to plan which roles your staff will need — these are the same roles your District Security Manager assigns in EDS.

Evaluation Roles

These roles participate directly in evaluations — either being evaluated or conducting evaluations.

Role	Who They Are	What They Do in eVAL
Teacher	Classroom teachers	Participate in their own evaluation — are observed in the classroom, take part in pre/post conferences, submit artifacts, set student growth goals
Principal	School principals	Evaluate teachers at their school and participate in their own evaluation
Head Principal	Head principals at schools with multiple principals	Evaluate both teachers and assistant principals, plus participate in their own evaluation
District Teacher Evaluator (DTE)	District-level staff who evaluate teachers	Evaluate teachers who are assigned at the district level (often specialists serving multiple schools)
District Principal Evaluator (DPE)	District-level staff who evaluate principals	Evaluate head principals

Note — Evaluators are often evaluatees too

A principal evaluates their teachers, but is also being evaluated by a district principal evaluator. When a person holds both roles, eVAL lets them switch between them.

Administrative Roles

These roles manage the setup and configuration of evaluations.

Role	Scope	What They Do
District Admin	Entire district	Select frameworks, configure settings, manage assignments, oversee all evaluations
School Admin	One school	Manage school-level settings and assignments (where the district allows)

Role	Scope	What They Do
District Assignment Manager	Entire district	Manage evaluator assignments only (a limited admin role)
District Viewer	Assigned schools	View evaluation progress in read-only mode for oversight

Tip — Start small with admin roles

A District Admin can already do everything a District Assignment Manager or District Viewer can. Assign those narrower roles only to people who aren't District Admins. Give each person the fewest roles that cover what they actually do, and add more later only if needed.

Multiple Roles and Locations

A single person can hold multiple roles across multiple locations. For example:

- A principal at two schools has the same work areas at each school.
- A person who is a principal at one school and a district admin switches between evaluation and admin views.

A staff member's annual evaluation is tied to their district, not a specific school. Someone who works at multiple schools in the same district has one evaluation for the district.
